

Personal Independence Payment (PIP) Handbook

Chapter 1: The Daily Living Component

PIP daily living component evaluates 10 key activities essential for independent survival. These activities include preparing food, taking nutrition, managing therapy, and washing. A total of 8 points qualifies for standard rate, while 12 points awards enhanced rate.

Chapter 2: The Mobility Component

The mobility component consists of two distinct statutory activities:

Activity 1 measures planning and following journeys including overwhelming sensory anxiety.

Activity 2 measures physical walking distance and moving around without severe discomfort.

Scores of 8 and 12 points map to standard and enhanced mobility awards respectively.
